

T.S. Eliot Annual Lecture

Variants & Versions: Patrick Heron's Portraits of T.S. Eliot

Speaker Dr Nuzhat Bukhari (St Edmund Hall, Oxford)

Between 1947 and 1950, Patrick Heron, one of the greatest British painters of the Twentieth Century made fourteen portraits of TS Eliot. Nuzhat Bukhari's lecture explores the implications of these portraits (recently exhibited at the National Portrait Gallery, London) for Eliot scholarship. One of the paintings (permanently housed at Kent University) will be present during the lecture. The others will be shown on screen.

6.30 – 8.00pm, Friday 15 November 2013

Grimond Lecture Theatre 1, University of Kent, Canterbury, CT2 7NZ

Followed by drinks, canapés, and a music recital

Admission is by Free Ticket from: Meredith Johnson, Room W4.8, Eliot College m.l.johnson@kent.ac.uk

01227 823141